

#worklife

Just for You

Downtime

Cool Stuff

Celebrities

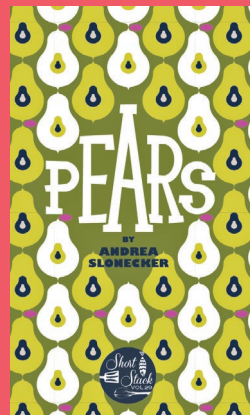

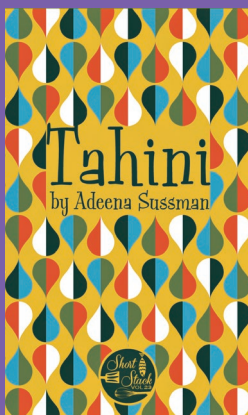

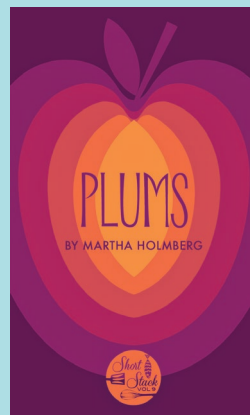

Singular Sensation

The first Short Stack Editions were published in 2013, and today there are 28 volumes of the single-subject cookbooks.

Featuring sweet and savory dishes, each volume draws you in with timeless recipes and super-catchy graphic covers.

Shortstackeditions.com, $14 each

Just for You

Hello, Gorgeous!

Throw an arrow at a world map, and anywhere it lands, you'll find beautiful women. Photographer Mihaela Noroc captures 500 women in 55 countries in The Atlas of Beauty, and the results are stunning.

ETHIOPIA

KYRGYZSTAN

GERMANY

Morgan Rae Moto Jacket by Covert NYC, shopcovert.com, $175

Double Take

This cool faux leather moto jacket is edgy and practical: It can transform into an over-the-shoulder drawstring tote or backpack. Just open the inside zipper and fold the pliable jacket into the interior pocket. It's the perfect solution for transitional weather—or for skipping the coat check line.

Stop Trying to Make Fetch Happen!

Yup, you have to be a Mean Girls fan to know what this headline means. And now, for super fans, there's the Mean Girls musical, which premieres October 31st at The National Theatre in Washington, DC. With a book by Tina Fey, based on her screenplay for the iconic 2004 film, you'll get to view all that high school drama (Regina George!) up close and personal.

Just for You

“Bullseye covers the national cultural scene, mostly through in-depth interviews with musicians, actors, comics and other creative folks. Host Jesse Thorn is ridiculously well prepared, super engaged and seriously funny. That makes for freewheeling, illuminating conversations. I always feel smarter and happier after listening.” —Louise Collazo, Copy Chief

“Fat Mascara is hosted by two magazine editors, and they cover all different types of beauty-related topics and bring in big-name industry experts. The two women are very real and honest and give the inside scoop on the beauty world. It’s interesting for beauty buffs and newbies alike.” —Dori Price, Beauty & Fashion Director

“Death, Sex & Money host Anna Sale delves into the topics we all secretly wonder about but rarely discuss openly. She asks the tough questions for us, covering everything from sibling rivalry to the life of a funeral director. Interviews with celebrities are thrown into the mix as well.” —Kaitlyn Pirie, Associate Health Editor

“I was so instantly mesmerized by this podcast! The protagonist of S-Town is like someone out of Southern Gothic casting or the love child of Flannery O’Connor and Truman Capote. What starts out as a supposed murder mystery quickly segues into something sadder, more unsettling and yet ultimately life-affirming.” —Darcy Jacobs, Executive Editor

“I love Song Exploder. In each episode, the host invites musicians to discuss their newest compositions. They go through the whole song bit by bit, explain their creative process and, I swear, convince me to like songs I wouldn’t have because I gain a whole new level of respect for the artist’s process.” —Dana Einsidler, Junior Designer

“Gastropod is great. Hosts Cynthia Graber and Nicola Twilley met as UC Berkeley journalism fellows, and this compelling, in-depth podcast is the perfect outcome. They’re contagiously curious about all things food: Why is milk white but butter yellow? They’re charming and funny, and they dig deep to find answers.” —Sarah Wharton, Assistant Food Editor

Just for You

5 Breast Friends

Shop for items that give back to organizations like the Breast Cancer Research Foundation (BCRF) and The Keep a Breast Foundation.

Gritty Titty Bra, gracedbygrit.com, $52

Land's End CashTouch Scarf in Light Mauve, landsend.com, $24

Delara Tote by Aimee Kestenberg x BCRF, aimeekestenberg.com, $228

Kendra Scott Nail Laquer in Rose Quartz, kendrascott.com, $16

Mizuno BCRF Wave Rider 21, $130

Spanx (our best friend) just came out with Arm Tights to make you feel your best all season long. Just slip these long-sleeved firming half-tops under a sleeveless shirt or dress, and you'll be covered. Spanx.com, $30 to $34

Binge-Watch Alert!

Stranger Things is back with season 2! After dealing with the Demogorgon, a missing person (poor Barb!), Eleven's heroic final act and Mike's return from The Upside Down, can the fantastic four still hold it together? Find out October 27th on Netflix.

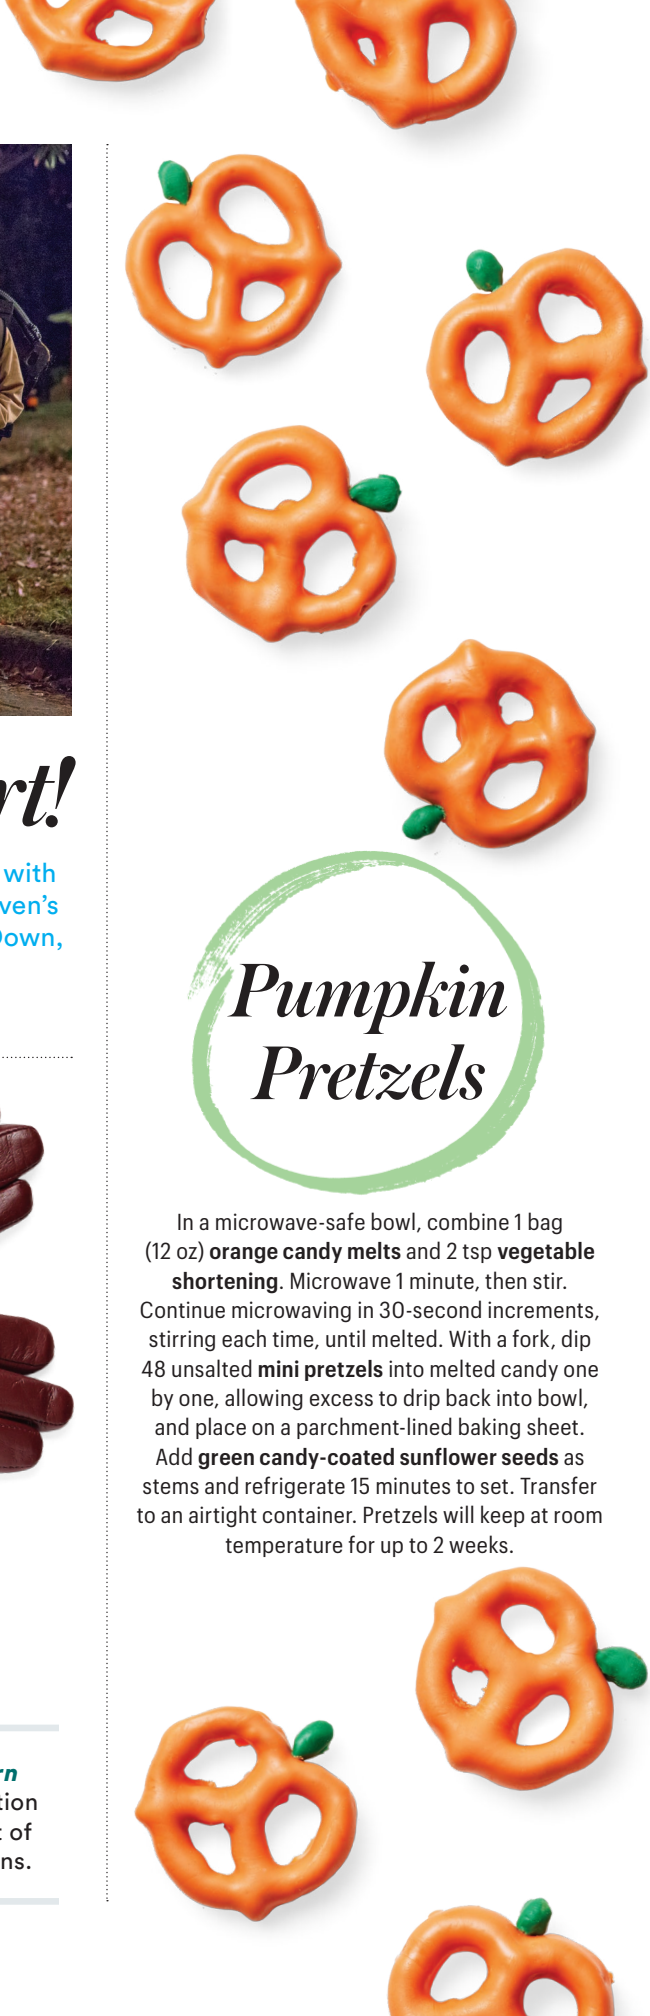

Show of Hands

Bring a little touch of spring to fall with these jewel-tone floral embellished gloves. Echodesigns.com, $129

Nikki Giovanni's A Good Cry: What We Learn from Tears and Laughter. The latest publication from the American poet is a personal account of life's ups and downs told through her sharp lens.

Pumpkin Pretzels

In a microwave-safe bowl, combine 1 bag (12 oz) orange candy melts and 2 tsp vegetable shortening. Microwave 1 minute, then stir. Continue microwaving in 30-second increments, stirring each time, until melted. With a fork, dip 48 unsalted mini pretzels into melted candy one by one, allowing excess to drip back into bowl, and place on a parchment-lined baking sheet. Add green candy-coated sunflower seeds as stems and refrigerate 15 minutes to set. Transfer to an airtight container. Pretzels will keep at room temperature for up to 2 weeks.